

Figure 1. Prevalence of depressive symptoms in patients with nontuberculous mycobacterial pulmonary disease classified according to (■) the Center for Epidemiological Studies Depression Scale (P = 0.005), (◆) the Hospital Anxiety and Depression Scale - Depression subscale (P = 0.01) and mMRC.

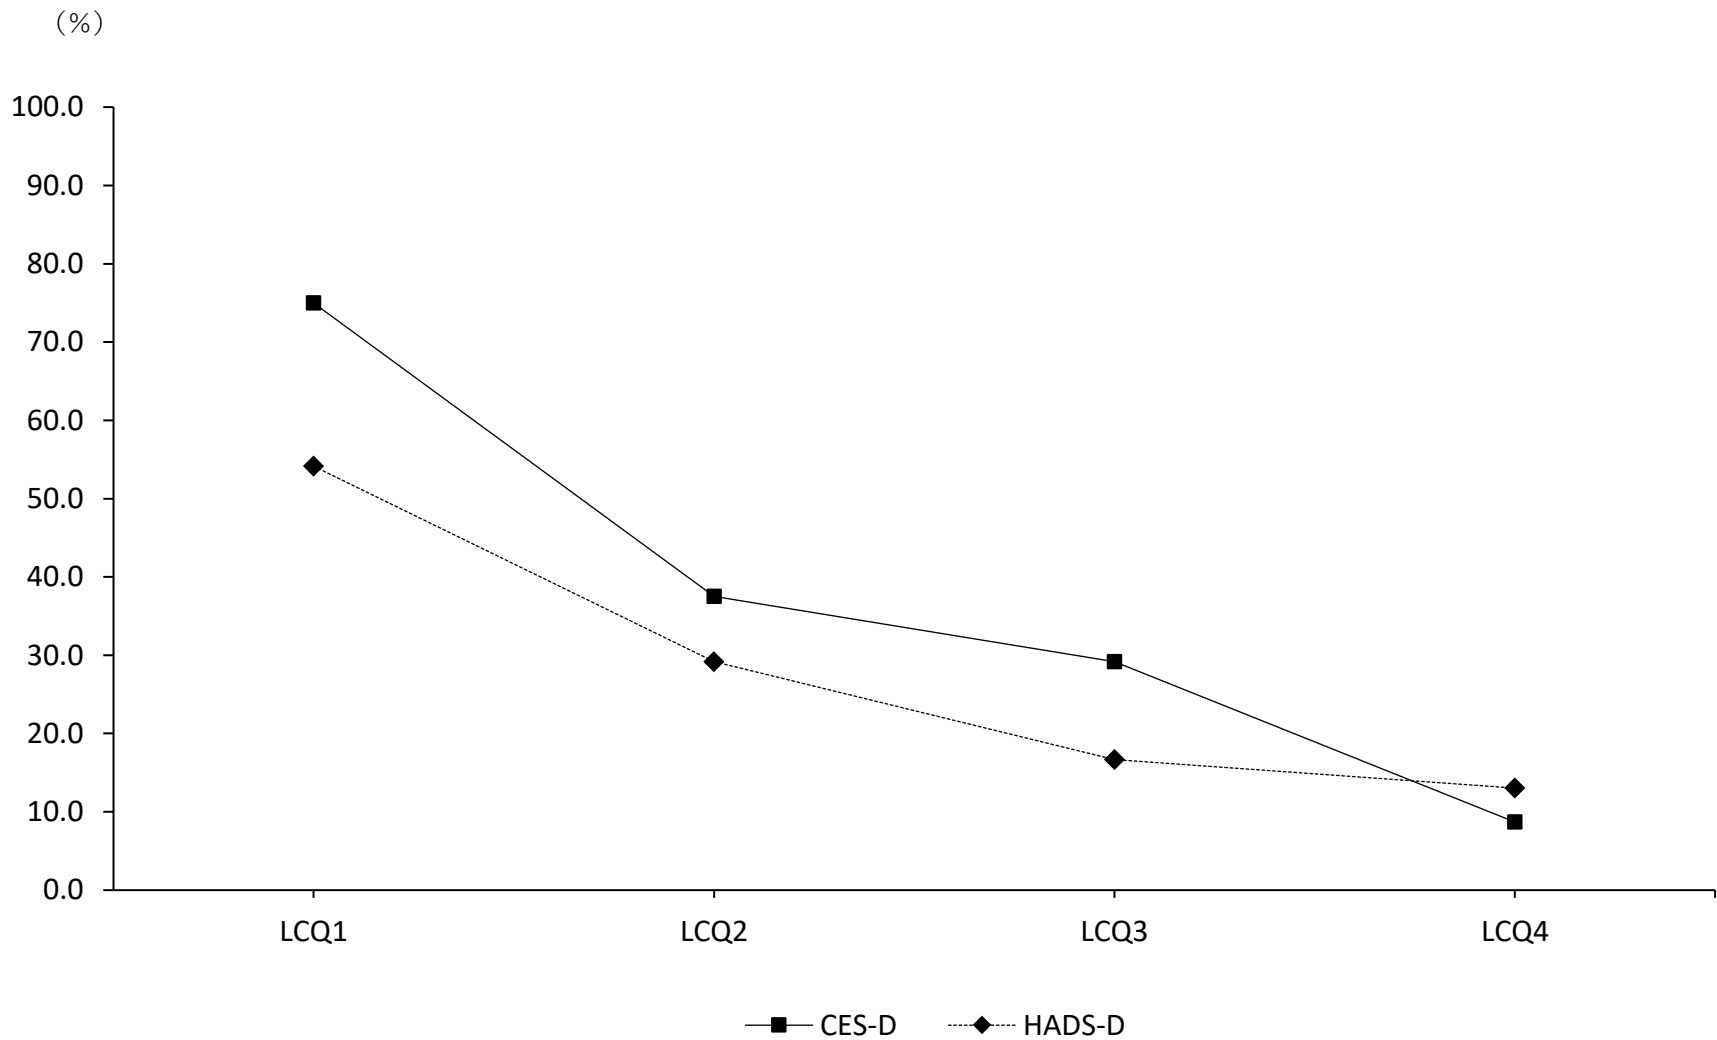

Figure 2. Prevalence of depressive symptoms in patients with nontuberculous mycobacterial pulmonary disease classified according to (■) the Center for Epidemiological Studies Depression Scale ( $P < 0.001$ ), (◆) the Hospital Anxiety and Depression Scale - Depression subscale ( $P = 0.02$ ) and LCQ.